

Josephine (Dodo) Tobin Schreiner Parker

In this story, Josephine Tobin Parker, affectionately known as “Dodo,” talks about her ancestor’s origins in France, especially her great-grandfather Captain Charles A. Schreiner, who played a prominent role in the development of Kerr County and Kerrville. She tells about each of his eight children, explaining the family’s penchant for giving all the girls nicknames, recalling some of the family anecdotes and telling how her great-grandfather began to build his business and ranching interests. She also relates many of the philanthropic contributions of the Schreiner family through the years, as well as some stories about growing up in early Kerrville.
