

Rosa Lea Fullwood Meek Dickerson

In this story, Rosa Lea Dickerson tells a fascinating story about her work during World War II transporting airplanes in the Women Airforce Service Pilots (WASP). She flew several types of aircraft to bases all over the U.S. She also talks about the history of the Women Airforce Service Pilots and how it was formed. She and her first husband, Carl Meek, were also very involved in the early days of aviation when they operated a flying service out of Kerrville Airport after World War II.

References:

WASP History
Early Kerrville Aviation

Names:

Jacqueline Cochrane
Carl Meek
W. C. Fawcett
Roy Morris
Robert Sieker
James Stieler
Sully Woodland
Josh Johnson